

For the members of the FCI Europe Section

31 July 2020

Dear members of the FCI Europe Section

As you know, the Kinološka zveza Slovenije - Cynological Association of Slovenia has been compelled to put the FCI European Dog Show in Celje in October this year on hold due to the Covid-19 situation.

On 6 July 2020, we sent a link for electronic voting to the full members of the section regarding postponement of the FCI European Dog Show in Celje on 8-11 October 2020 to either 25-28 May or 26-29 May 2021 at the same place.

Of the 42 members entitled to vote, 24 members voted. All 24 votes were in favour of the Kinološka zveza Slovenije organizing the EDS 2020 in the end of May 2021. Consequently, the show will take place in Celje on either 25-28 May or 26-29 May 2021.

The second part of the vote was about whether the members of the FCI Europe Section could approve that the Europe Section general assembly 2020 planned to take place in Celje on the day after the EDS 2020 could be held on the same day as the Europe Section general assembly 2021 in Budapest.

This result of this vote was that 23 members voted for and 1 voted against. This means that the FCI Europe Section general assembly 2020 will take place in Budapest, Hungary in May 2021 immediately before the ordinary general assembly 2021.

On behalf of the Europe Section, I thank the members for their support in these difficult times. It is gratifying to see that the dog sport is slowly getting back to business in many of our member countries, but we will probably have to anticipate that it will take a long time before we are back to normal activity.

Best regards – and take good care!

Jørgen Hindse
President of the FCI Europe Section
